About the Convocation-cum-Scientific Convention

National Academy of Veterinary Sciences (NAVS), India is organizing XXII Convocation-cum- Scientific Convention on "Sustainable animal health and production: Exploring challenges and priorities" during November 29-30, 2024 at Lala Lajpat Rai University of Veterinary and Animal Sciences, Hisar, Haryana. This year the main emphasis is on the sustainable animal health and production that are crucial for ensuring food security, environmental conservation, and economic stability along with exploring challenges and priorities in this area. Several key factors play an important role in sustainable animal health and production areas like disease management, antimicrobial resistance (AMR), nutrition and feed, animal welfare, environmental impact, technology and innovation, smallholder integration, policy and governance etc. Entrepreneurs and Entrepreneurship in sustainable animal health and production have the potential to drive significant positive change in the industry. By addressing environmental impacts, improving animal health and welfare, adapting to market pressures, and navigating regulatory challenges, they can create resilient and sustainable business models. Prioritizing innovation, ethical practices, and consumer engagement will be key to their success.

About the National Academy of Veterinary Sciences (NAVS)

The National Academy of Veterinary Sciences (India) is an apex premier agency for the development of Veterinary Sciences in India that was established on lines similar to the National Academy of Medical Sciences by eminent visionary Veterinarians to promote and consolidate the scientific views on policy matters related to Veterinary Science and Animal Husbandry and to strive for advancement of livestock sector in national economy through promotion of animal welfare. It has been registered by the Registrar of Societies, Delhi vide Registration Certificate No. S-2/4471 of 1993 dated 7th July, 1993 and has emerged as the largest think-tank of all branches of the profession for research & development departments of the country engaged in Animal Husbandry & Veterinary sectors. The Academy was established to promote the interests of Veterinarians in the country and was launched with Dr. Chinta Mani Singh, regarded as the doyen of Veterinary Services in India, as its Founder President. The academy was formally inaugurated by Hon'ble Minister of State for Animal Husbandry and Dairying (Independent Charge) Government of India, Dr. Raghuvansh Prasad Singh on 18th December, 1996 in Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi, and the Scrolls of Fellowship to the duly elected National Fellows/Members during 1994-95, were presented to them by the Hon'ble Minister at the Investiture ceremony. NAVS established with the aim and objective of promoting knowledge of veterinary sciences, its practical application and to secure coordination between veterinarian and other scientific academic societies, associations, institutions and veterinary/animal husbandry scientific developments and services. The Academy has about 450 members including Fellows, Institutional and Corporate Members and Elected Members. The association is successfully organizing its annual conferences/symposia and convocations for awarding fellowships recognizing life time achievement of its members.
